

About the author

Pedro Pablo Uriarte Astarloa was born in 1951 in Arrigorriaga (Bizkaia), where he was baptised as a mountaineer as a child with the Club Alpino Padura. He has almost always lived in Bilbao and has spent his summer holidays in Gorniz for more than 50 years. He is a doctor by profession, who retired a few years ago, and his hobby, apart from guitar, drawing and watercolour painting, has been the mountains.

Whenever possible he has spent his time hiking in the mountains, both near and far, except for a few years when he swapped the mountains for a bike after climbing Mont Blanc.

The experiences he has accumulated along the numerous routes that he has done in Gorniz and its surroundings over the last few years have been the basis of this Guide, which we hope will be useful for all those people, be they experts or amateurs, who want to do a healthy sport in the open air and, at the same time, get to know the surroundings of this beautiful coastal town, which is especially attractive along its breathtaking walks and strolls that will undoubtedly remain long in the memory.
